Alleged Plots Against the Czar—No Battle Near Mukden—The Population Fleeing.

RUSSIAN REGIMENT MUTINIES

NOTABLES FROM ABROAD

Boston, Oct. 4.—The revolutionary newspaper, Iskra, states that while the Bugulin regiment was on trains bound from Samara, Russia, to the seat of war, number of the members mutinied. They killed Colonel Nefarufa, and threw a sergeant out of the window. No one who participated in the mutiny, the past states, was punished. At the recent maneuvers the same regiment refused to obey the orders of the colonel, and also was not punished. The reason given is all the military prisons in St. Petersburg are overflowing.

RUSSIAN SHIP ESCAPES.
London, Oct. 4.—The Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company wires that a message received there from Chefoo asserts that a Russian warship recently ran the blockade at Port Arthur, evading the Japanese and escaping to the southeast.

JAPS THROWN INTO PANIC.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 4.—General Mischenko Sunday attacked and threw into a state of panic Japanese force at Tumendze. A quantity of the Japanese ammunition and rifles was abandoned.

THE CRUISER GOES WEST.
Gibraltar, Oct. 4.—The Russian cruiser Smolensk, of the volunteer fleet, passed here today going west.

POPULATION FLEEING.
Mukden, Oct. 4.—All is quiet about Mukden, and the country population, in anticipation of a battle in the open, is flocking into the city for protection. The population of Mukden in the last three weeks has increased by several tens of thousands.

TO ATTACK VLADIVOSTOK.
Tien Tsin, Oct. 4.—The Gazette hears that the Chinese government has received information that the Japanese are to send two divisions against Vladivostok, besides a force to occupy northern Korea. The Russians, it is said, have sent five hundred additional marines to Vladivostok to aid in the defense of the port.

PLOTS AGAINST THE CZAR.
Berlin, Oct. 4.—The reports current here have it that the czar's recent journey through Russia was one long race for life. His visit to Odessa was shortened for fear of assassination. The police of Odessa claim to have discovered four plots to take the czar's life.

ARTILLERY CONFLICTS.
London, Oct. 4.—The Telegraph's correspondent says:

"The terrible artillery conflicts are adding to the horrors of the situation at Port Arthur. On September 22 and 23 the Russians made sorties against the positions held by the Kanagawa regiment, and desperate fighting resulted. The Japanese force was practically annihilated, only a non-commissioned officer and eleven men remaining alive out of the 4,000 who went into the engagement."

IROQUOIS CASES

WILL BE CHANGED TO SOME OTHER
ILLINOIS COUNTY.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Judge Kirstan today granted a change of venue in the Iroquois Theatre cases. Ten thousand affidavits were produced to show that the accused could not get a fair trial in Cook county. The county and judge before which the case will be tried will be named later.

KING OF SAXONY IS WORSE

Both Candidates Made Good Speeches and Were Well Received.

One of the largest crowds on record assembled at Benton, Marshall county, yesterday afternoon to hear the joint debate between Congressman Ollie M.
James, Democratic nominee for congress and Hon. J. C. Speight, of Mayfield, Graves county, Republican nominee for congress.

The court house was packed, over 1000 people being there, and several hundred could not get in and were forced to remain on the outside.

The debate began at 1 p.m. and lasted until about 5. Both speakers were well received, and made good speeches. As to the comparative merits, the Democrats naturally thought Congressman James got the better of it, while the Republicans thought Mr. Speight had his opponent skinned a block.

The Populists and other disinterested persons say that it was about an even break, and both made good speeches, and pleased their respective aforementioned.

Mr. James had a better chance, as he had a twenty minutes rejoinder.
The gentlemen both made a good impression, however, and the debate was one of the warmest political meetings ever held in the First district.

PATIENT NOT SO WELL.

London, Oct. 4.—A report received this morning from Walmer Castle states that Lady Curzon is not so well. The lady's sleep was many times disturbed during the night.

THE KING WORSE.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—The aged king of Saxony, who has been ill for a fortnight is again in a serious condition. His weakness is accentuated by suffocating fits of coughing, which prevent sleep.

OCT 18TH

IS THE DATE OF THE MACHEN HEARING.

Washington, Oct. 4.—On convening
the United States Court of Appeals
this morning the appeal of August W.
Machen & Company, defendants in the postoffice conspiracy case was set for hearing October 18. Machen and others were sentenced to two years' imprisonment and a fine of ten thousand dollars.

WRECKED TRAIN FOR FUN.

Roanoke, Va., Oct. 4.—Gussie Loving,
a 10-year-old white girl, was arrested at her home near Dunlop, W. Va., charged with wrecking a Norfolk & Western passenger train at that point yesterday.
The girl admitted her guilt and said she put a nut on the track "just for fun, to see the train smash it."

CLASH BETWEEN DISTURBERS AND DRAGOONS.

Paris, Oct. 4.—Serious labor disturbance occurred at Cluses today.
The rioters were finally charged by dragoons and dispersed and several of the disturbers were wounded.

Points Out Mistakes In St. Louis
Platform—Senator Fairbanks
In the West

TAFT IS AT EVANSVILLE

INHABITANTS WERE HELPLESS

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 4.—In his speech at South Omaha last night, Bryan declared that he still stood for every doctrine that he has advocated during the past eight years, that he has not recanted and has not changed his position.

In speaking of the democratic platform, he said:

"The platform of St. Louis is bad only where it omits to state the party's position on two questions—the money question and the income tax."

He said that he agreed with the populists on many questions and with the socialists on others, such as the municipal ownership of railways and postal savings banks.

He declared that the standing army was a menace to peace and the laboring man.

SENATOR FAIRBANKS SPOKE.

San Francisco, Oct. 4.—Senator Fairbanks, republican candidate for vice-president, and Senator Fulton, of Oregon, last night addressed an immense audience in this city.

Fairbanks devoted much of his time to the Panama canal question and to the extension of American trade in the Orient.
He also made a general contention for the continuance of the republican policy of protection and for the maintenance of the gold standard and defended the course of the republican party in the Philippines.

During the day Senator Fairbanks spoke at Red Bluff, Chico, Redding and Marysville, California.

SECRETARY OF WAR TAFT.

Evensville, Ind., Oct. 4.—Secretary of War Taft addressed a large audience in this city last night. The speaker devoted a great deal of his time to the Philippines question, but touched on the trusts, tariff, and the Panama question.

BEVERIDGE SPOKE.

Brazil, Ind., Oct. 4.—Senator Beveridge spoke here today to fifteen hundred Stanford University students and citizens, on the "schools and prosperity
of the country."

citizens, on the "schools and prosperity
of the country."

BRYAN IS SPEAKING.

Omaha, Oct. 4.—William J. Bryan left here today and is speaking in small towns between Omaha and Emerson, where he delivered a lengthy speech this afternoon. Tonight he will speak at Hartington. The entire week will be spent in northern and eastern Nebraska.

ROOSEVELT LEADS

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN BUT-TONS SELL AT RATIO
OF 5 TO 1.

New York, October 4.—F. J. Alvin, the inventor of an electric campaign button, reports that notwithstanding the buttons retail at a dollar and a quarter each, more than 51,000 of them have been sold through the United States on orders and at the ratio of five Roosevelt buttons to one Parker button. In West Virginia the sales have been 320 Davis buttons, 148
Parker and 960 Roosevelt buttons. In Indiana 1000 Roosevelt buttons have been sold, as against 210 Parker buttons.

The extreme southern states the ratio is about two Parker buttons to one Roosevelt button, although in the Louisville (Ky.) district Roosevelt is selling two to one against Parker.

Every republican in Paducah and the incorporated towns of the district should register on next Tuesday, October 4th.

TERRELL GETS JOB— BRICK TO BE USED

Regular Meeting of the Council Held Last Night.

A Number of Ordinances Were Passed and Other Business Was Transacted.

NOW UP TO THE ALDERMEN

The regular meeting of the council board was held last night and it was decided to use brick for reconstructing Broadway, and the contract was awarded to Mr. E. C. Terrell, whose bid was considered the best because it was the lowest. A number of other matters were considered, but the street work was the most important matter before the board.

Councilman Rehkopf was the only member of the council absent from the meeting last night.

Mayor Yeiser read the petition regarding closing the ends of the new market house so the hucksters and gardeners may be protected in cold weather, and it was referred to the public improvement committee, where it will probably be allowed to stay and vegetate for many a day to come.

The matter of putting up five additional fire alarm boxes, which Mayor Yeiser stated were necessary to fulfill his promise to the insurance men before they would order the pink slip removed was referred to the police and fire commissioners.

The matter of putting up five additional fire alarm boxes, which Mayor Yeiser stated were necessary to fulfill his promise to the insurance men before they would order the pink slip removed was referred to the police and fire commissioners.

The three men appointed to arbitrate any differences which may arise in building the new market house were reported to the council, Contractor Katterjohn selecting Mr. F. W. Katterjohn, and the city selecting Mr. Tom Barry, and these two selecting Mr. F. P. Toof. The first two were ratified but Mr. Toof was rejected and the other two will have to appoint a third member of the board of arbitration.

It was ordered that Auditor Kirkland, Judge D. L. Sanders and Lieut. Frank Harlan go over the police records and compile a report that will enable Former Marshal Crow to get a quietus. This completed the business brought up by the mayor.

The statement of the treasurer, presented by the chairman of the finance committee, showed that Treasurer Donan had $225,208.67 on hand September 1st; collected $9,264.91 since then; spent $25,987.42, leaving a present balance of $208,486.16.

The statement was received and filed, and the regular bills were allowed, including salaries. The mayor and finance committee were instructed to borrow money and pay all sanitary expenses between now and January 1st. The matter of paying the insurance premiums on policies on the city electric light plant was referred to the financial committee. The city, it seems, did not desire to have any policies on the city light plant, as it has wasted so much money in other ways that there is not enough to pay the insurance. The policies were regularly issued and delivered to the city officials, however, before the desire of the city was known, and the city through negligence of its officials failed to return the policies to the agents with an explanation of what was intended. The agents now expect the city to pay for the insurance and the city wants to hold the agents responsible for the city's own carelessness.

The awarding of the contract for reconstructing Broadway from Fifth to Ninth provoked quite a controversy. The board of works found that the bituminous material would cost about $350 a block more than brick, but on account of the cheap, inferior work that has been done in Paducah in past years in reconstructing streets, recommended that the bituminous material be used instead of brick.

The bids were: E. C. Terrell, $2.27 per square yard; Charles Robertson, $2.57 1-2 a square yard; Nashville Roofing and Paving company, $2.45 a square yard. People or Chattanooga brick were specified as the material to be used.

Contractor Terrell's bid for the sidewalks and curbing was 54 cents for circular curbing and gutter and 11 3-4 cents for sidewalks. Other bids were as follows:

Anchorage Paving company, combined curb and gutter, 60 cents per linear foot; circular curb and gutter, 63 cents per linear foot; sidewalks 13 1-4 cents per square foot. Nashville Roofing and Paving company, combined curb and gutter, 80 cents per linear foot; circular curb and gutter 95 cents per linear foot; sidewalks 12 1-2 cents per square foot.

The board of public works, in advocating the bituminous compound stated that it lasted longer, was prettier, was almost noiseless, and costs only a little more. It also made the point that the work would be done quickly and by the best and most experienced workmen, but the council refused to adopt the material, and ordered instead that brick be used. The board of works was instructed to select the kind of brick it desired, and from indications Bannon brick will not be used, as it has not come up to expectations here, and is said to be inferior to many other brands. The streets made by Contractor Terrell within the last year are alleged to show more wear than the ones made by Patterson and Porteous four years ago. The Terrell

The following transfers of liquor licenses were made:

E. W. Berry, of Twelfth and Madison, to C. W. Spencer; F. B. Finley, of 737 North Eighth, to E. W. Berry; Jake Ginger, of 908 South Eighth, to Frank Hardisty; George Wilkins to A. F. Drake. To Quarles & Murray was transferred the Charles Doerflinger license of North Fourth, while the license committee was referred back the request of Don Gilberto that he be refunded three months of his license already gotten, because he did not get opened for that length of time after same was granted him. Frank Eaker was granted a license to open a new place at 205 Jefferson street, while the application of Bloodworth to open on Mill street was killed. F. M. Matlock's license at Seventh and Adams was transferred to Miller Brooks, while Will Greek's license was transferred from 104 to 121 Kentucky avenue.

Meat Inspector Warner's bond of Messrs. Dubois and Kolb was ratified by the council.

A protest was filed by property owners on account of the proposed improvement of the alley between Boyd and Trimble streets.

The council ordered published in the newspapers the milk test made every month by Milk and Meat Inspector C. G. Warner.

Engineer Washington was ordered to give the grade to Contractor Katterjohn for the new market house.

A petition for relief from over-assessment from Mrs. T. A. Wyatt was referred to the board of supervisors.

The city solicitor was ordered to bring suit against everybody who owes back taxes.

The mayor was instructed to appoint a watchman for the temporary market house. A petition to appoint Mr. Joe Wagner was not acted on, as the council has no authority to appoint, and the board of aldermen must act before the council can appoint.

The $500 certified check of Contractor Karmes, when he bid on the city hospital was ordered returned.

The Pittsburg Coal company was given permission to place scales near the flour mill at First and Washington streets, and also to put an electric motor there to assist in getting wagons to the top of the hill.

The matter of enlarging a door to the South Side fire station was referred to the fire commissioners.

Authority to let the contract for storm water sewerage on Kentucky from First to Fifth and on Second from Broadway to Jefferson, was given the board of public works.

Mrs. Burkhett, matron of the city hospital, was allowed $20 extra for nurse hire.

It was ordered that Auditor Kirkland, Judge D. L. Sanders and Lieut. Frank Harlan go over the police records and compile a report that will enable Former Marshal Crow to get a quietus. This completed the business brought up by the mayor.

Chairman Jackson, of the cemetery committee, reported that his committee had visited the Potter farm out on the Hinkleville road, and recommended its purchase at $50 an acre as a cemetery. There are about 125 acres in the farm. The council concurred in the recommendation, and decided to name it "Jackson Hill," in honor of Councilman Jackson, who for years has worked hard to make the cemetery here one of the best in the state, and since Oak Grove became exhausted, has done good work in getting property to serve as an addition, or as another cemetery. The board of aldermen has to act on the purchase of the property, however, before it is bought.

mittee was made of Bannon brick and the Patterson streets of Chattanooga brick.

The bid of the bituminous people was for $2.55 a square yard. It is now up to the board of aldermen to ratify or reject the contract.

Every republican in Paducah and the incorporated towns of the district should register on next Tuesday, October 4th.

FAMILY REUNION

BROTHERS MEET FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MANY YEARS.

Carbondale, Ill. October 4.—A remarkable family reunion was held recently at Makanda, a few miles south of this city, and after a period of merriment indulged in by five brothers who had not met in over a quarter of a century, one was, a few hours after the departure of the others, found dying. There were five brothers, William S. Henley, age 76, of Makanda; Robert S., age 71, of Portland, Ore.; James H., age 69, of Shelbyville, Tenn.; Thomas N., age 62, of Dongola, and Adolphus N., age 56, of Anna. William and Robert had not met in forty-two years. James and Robert had not met in forty-three years. Adolphus and Robert had not seen each other in thirty-five years, while Adolphus and James had not met in thirty-two years. Their combined ages were 334 years, and combined weight 880 pounds. The five were fathers of 34 children, 47 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren. The five brothers parted at Anna in seeming good health and spirits. William succeeded in reaching his farm, and a few minutes later was found wandering in his orchard. He was taken to his home and passed away before medical attention could be summoned.

The mayor was instructed to appoint a watchman for the temporary market house. A petition to appoint Mr. Joe Wagner was not acted on, as the council has no authority to appoint, and the board of aldermen must act before the council can appoint.

The $500 certified check of Contractor Karmes, when he bid on the city hospital was ordered returned.

The Pittsburg Coal company was given permission to place scales near the flour mill at First and Washington streets, and also to put an electric motor there to assist in getting wagons to the top of the hill.

NEAR ENROLLMENT IS THE ATTENDANCE

The Public Schools Continue Their Progress.

Tonight the Board of Education Will Hold Its Regular Monthly Meeting.

BUSINESS TO COME UP

The board of education will meet tonight in regular session and it is expected will have a great deal of business to transact.

Superintendent Lieb will file a report but will not embody in it a full statistical report of the schools for the time they have been running, as the first school month will not be out until Friday.

"The attendance in the schools is steady," Superintendent Lieb stated,

"and every day we are adding more pupils. My office has been frequented during the past several days with parents and their children desiring to enter the children into the schools. We feel highly encouraged over the outlook for the attendance and think that few will drop out and that the attendance will come nearer the enrollment this year than ever before. It is a singular fact that the residents are taking more interest in the schools this year and the pupils seem to take more interest too. They work with a will and the absence mark is conspicuously absent from the reports. The pupils have started in to do good work and the teachers encouraged by such good attendance are also doing better work."

Superintendent Lieb stated that the matter of renting a store room or house of some kind for the Mechanicsburg school children would be brought up. The Langstaff school is so crowded that half day sessions have to be held and this is unsatisfactory and under this arrangement the best work cannot be obtained. It is impossible to build a school house before the winter is over and the only remedy for the matter seems to be the renting of another building and engaging an extra teacher to take charge. This will probably be done.

This afternoon the first issue of the High School paper will appear and the pupils are taking a lively interest in it.

Where Postum Advertising is Done.

Out at Battle Creek, Mich., among the trees, flowers and green lawns is a most unique building devoted entirely to advertising. It is occupied by the Grandin Advertising Agency Ltd., which handles among other accounts, the advertising of Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., aggregating in round figures one million dollars a year, perhaps the largest appropriation of any one concern in the world.

The publishers inspected the 14 or 15 factory buildings of this father of the prepared food industry with especial interest, for it has grown to its present colossal proportions in a trifle less than 9 years, a marked example of the power of good and continuous advertising of articles of pronounced merit.

Pure Food Factories That Make Postum and Grape-Nuts.

Talk on Advertising by C. W. Post to Publishers at Banquet at Battle Creek.

In his address to publishers at the Battle Creek banquet Mr. Post likened the growth of a modern commercial enterprise to the growth of an apple-tree. Good seed, plenty of work and water are needed but the tree will not bear apples without sunshine.

The sunshine to the commercial plant is publicity secured by advertising.

It is impossible even with the heaviest advertising to make a success unless the article has merit of a high order. Merit is the good tree and sunshine makes the apples grow. A good salesman who knows how to talk with his pen can present the logic, argument and salesman ability to thousands of customers at one time through the columns of the newspaper, a strong contrast to the old fashioned way of talking to one customer at a time.

He spoke of the esteem of the advertiser, for a publisher that takes especial interest in making the advertising announcements attractive. Advertisements should contain truthful information of interest and value to readers. The Postum methods have made Battle Creek famous all over the world and about doubled the population.

TIRED DRIVING

PADUCAH EXPRESS MAN TO LOCATE IN ILLINOIS.

Mr. C. H. Ogilvie, the American Express driver who left Paducah without explanation as to where he intended to go, was located in Cairo yesterday.

Mr. Gauthier Henneberger, an express messenger and baggageman on the Cairo extension run, saw him in Cairo and asked him why he quit work. He replied that he had become tired of working and would accept a position shortly with a railroad at Mound City, Ill. He stated he was tired of driving horses.

DO IT TODAY.

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'till tomorrow what you can do today," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it today!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it TODAY—and let that remedy be Dr. Boscene's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. For sale by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

THE STREET CONTRACT.

The board of aldermen must pass on awarding the contract for reconstructing Broadway before the contract is signed! It is to be hoped that it will consider well before acting, the matter in its various phases, and not do something that will result in unnecessary inconvenience and expense to the public.

It seems from the best evidence at our command that the recommendations of the board of public works to adopt the bituminous compound instead of brick, deserved more consideration than it received from the council last night. The merits of brick as street material cannot be denied, but that there is better and more desirable material, cannot be gainsaid. This is known by everyone familiar with the street problem. The fact that so many cities now use asphalt or the new bituminous compound almost exclusively, is sufficient evidence that brick is being discarded in a great many cities.

But even more significant is the fact that the board of public works has worked on and investigated for many months the question of material, has made trips to other cities, and read reports from many places, and ought to be fully capable of making a recommendation that deserved consideration, if not concurrence. The council, which last night turned down the board of works' recommendation, has never investigated the matter, and is at least not as reliable an authority on the subject as the gentlemen whose recommendation, after months of conscientious labor, it repudiated.

But so much for the material. The asphalt or bituminous material would cost only about $350 a block more than the brick. A question for the aldermen to decide is whether or not the advantages from using this asphalt or bituminous paving would justify this additional expense of about $350 a block. It is claimed that the more smooth, attractive appearance, the greater durability and the noiseless qualities of the asphalt or bituminous paving would more than justify the additional expense. The street is largely a residence street from Fifth to Ninth, and the elimination of noise would be a feature the importance of which is not to be ignored.

Another question for the board of aldermen to decide is, is the lowest bid necessarily the best? Hasn't Paducah had enough experience in reconstructing streets with contractors not equipped and qualified to do the work contracted for? Which is better, to have the work done by contractors or men who understand the business, have the necessary implements and employees to do it, and do the work in the quickest and best possible manner, or to let such public work to men who know nothing about it, who do excavating and other work in the slowest, crudest and most primitive manner, and take their time to no matter what cost to the public? It can be truthfully said that this is the way the thing was done both on Broadway and under the recent contract, when it required almost a year to build seven blocks of street that a street paving company could and would have built in a week.

The board of aldermen should consider whether or not the people want to go through the ordeal through which it passed when these other contracts were being executed.

All that is asked or expected of these representatives of the people is that they see that the city gets as good as the city and the people can and are willing to pay for. That the work be done in a capable, workman-like manner in the least possible time. It does not matter who does it, so the results achieved are satisfactory.

"LET THE COLONEL TALK."

The Courier-Journal is making the welkin ring with its masterful blows in behalf of democracy. Still, no one is taking it seriously, and it will not prevent President Roosevelt from getting a plurality as large as has been claimed for him by his most enthusiastic admirers. The only way to regard the Courier-Journal is as Collier's Weekly suggests in the following:

"Kindly roast Wattersen," writes a correspondent, "and oblige." He incloses a clipping from a speech in which the Kentucky editor called the president, in his literary way, a pirate. This is not perhaps the most exact, courteous, or effective way for the one Colonel to describe the other; but we must be lenient in affairs of style. Some men can suggest disapprobation only by superlative malediction. They may nevertheless be the kindest of men. The style is to a very limited extent the man. A man is likely to write in the manner for which he has a special talent. If he can infinite better than others in his vicinity for fulminations. If he is gifted in more measured statement, look for moderation. We find it therefore impossible to condemn the Colonel's bark. If he wrote more reasonably he would not write so well. It is the Colonel's inalienable right to speak his own language, even if his violence hurts the democratic cause, as some believe it may. "I should think," writes a friend of ours, "that it might be possible when Wattersen really dies—which I hope he never will—that the democratic party might hope to win an election." We do not believe elections are often won or lost by phrases. They may be, occasionally. One was perhaps lost by the Rev. Mr. Burchard. But the risk is small, and the joy of a lively personality is great. So let the Colonel talk.

PARKER'S GARBLING.

Of course a man like Judge Parker would not wilfully misrepresent anything but it is a little strange that in his letter of acceptance he said in quoting the late President McKinley:

"He pointed out in his last address to the people that we must make sensible trade arrangements if we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus."

When as a matter of fact what President McKinley really said was:

"By sensible trade arrangements which shall not interrupt our home production we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus."

Judge Parker also quotes President McKinley as follows:

"A system which provides a mutual exchange of commodities is manifestly

REPUBLICAN VS. DEMOCRATIC EXPENDITURES.

Judge Parker, Octogenarian Davis and the democratic press to the contrary notwithstanding, the fact remains that we are spending less money in proportion to our wealth than we did under Buchanan or Cleveland, and what is of far greater importance, we produce revenue in excess of our expenditures, a condition which did not confront either Buchanan or Cleveland.

PARKER CAN'T FOOL THEM.

If Judge Parker altered his letter of acceptance so many times, why was it necessary for it to contain so many errors and misstatements? The only conclusion forced upon one is that the democratic candidate for president is woefully ignorant or did he think he could fool the people with his misleading figures and perverted facts and truth? But it won't work this time. Judges of Poor Bill Thorne! They caught him when he wasn't looking and gave him a solar plexus that will probably lay him up at Eminence for quite a while. Bill's offense was not pardoning a man who should have been kept in prison, however. It was being in somebody's way.

NEW HEATING PLANT AT UNION DEPOT

Illinois Central Will Use a Locomotive Boiler.

The Heating Apparatus Has Always Been a Failure—Chief Engineer Is Here.

OTHER LATE RAILROAD NOTES

The announcement of an improvement which will be received with the greatest of pleasure by the traveling public at large, was made this morning when the Illinois Central announced that the present steam heating plant at the local I. C. depot would be abandoned this winter and a new plant installed.

Yesterday Mr. R. E. Fulmer, general foreman of the local Illinois Central shops, and Mr. Ed Wheeler, foreman of the tin and pipe fitting departments of the shops, went to the depot and took measurements for the new plant. A big locomotive boiler will be installed at the depot at the northwest end of the ice houses, which is located in front of the depot, and a nice house built over it. A pipe will be run to the depot and connected with the radiators there, the steam from the locomotive boiler being used to heat the depot instead of the old boiler which has failed to give satisfaction since in use.

The road will also run a line of steam pipe all along the side tracks in front of the depot and heat "dead" coaches which are side tracked there for cleaning and to get them out of the way until ready for use again.

In addition the road will put in an air plant for cleaning coaches by air. When the coaches are side tracked a corps of men are set to work with brooms and sticks beating and dusting the seats.

With a new apparatus attached to air hose, the dust is removed with lightning like rapidity and the work of dusting can be done in one tenth the time it takes at present.

By the installation of the boiler the coaches can be cleaned, and heated and prepared for the trains they go to make up. Under the present arrangement the coaches are cold and do not get warm until coupled to a train and the steam connections made. The coaches do not become comfortably warm until half an hour or an hour after coupled to the train. By attaching to the steam plant at the depot they will be prepared for service and when coupled onto the trains will be comfortable.

The depot has been uncomfortably cold every winter and the company has expended much money in repairing and attempting to improve the heating plant.

The measurements were completed today and the plans for the house and location of the boiler are being prepared. The order for the boiler and steam piping has been sent out and the plant will be working before the winter has set in it is promised.

Mr. H. U. Wallace, chief engineer of the I. C. road, and Mr. M. Miller, general foreman of water works of the I. C., were in the city yesterday on business.

Mr. Wallace had been on the Evansville district looking over the road and also inspected the work at Tennessee river bridge. The two officers arrived on a freight train but left late in the afternoon for Cairo on a special train. They will probably return to the city.

Mr. Miller is looking after the improvements in water supply here. The road is putting in a big tank at the old dispatching offices and other improvements, told elsewhere, called his attention to Paducah.

The work of digging the well at Princeton for a permanent water supply for the I. C., is progressing nicely. The well is ten inches in diameter and a depth of 140 feet has already been reached. The well is being drilled and the work is necessarily tedious.

Mr. H. McCourt, assistant general superintendent of southern lines of the Illinois Central road, arrived in the city this morning in his private car No. 19, from the Evansville district and will remain in Paducah all day, probably. Mr. McCourt has been inspecting the eastern division and bettering the movement of trains, where possible. The official is directing his attention particularly to

It's always been my opinion that everybody spoke American while the tower of Babel was building, and that the Lord let the good people keep right on speaking it. So when you've got any thing to say to me, I want you to say it in language that will grade regular on the Chicago board of trade.

It isn't what a man's got in the bank, but what he's got in his head, that makes him a great merchant.

Look in a man's eyes for honesty, around his mouth for weakness at his chin for strength, at his hands for temperament, at his nails for cleanliness.

BIG SWINDLE.

Syndicate Buys Vermin From Outside Rio Janeiro for Bounty.

Rio de Janeiro.—The vast number of rats forthcoming in response to the health department's offer of five cents a head caused a certain suspicious delegation to make inquiries.

This resulted in the discovery that a perfectly organized syndicate existed for the purpose of purchasing and importing the profitable vermin on the transaction. The proprietor of the concern and fifteen of his assistants have been arrested.

Tonight the Odd Fellows expect to complete the work of reorganizing Captain Atkins.

DISHES OF FABULOUS COST AND QUESTIONABLE TASTE.

The Vast Sum That Were Lavished Upon Feasts by the Luxurious Romans—Soyer's Hundred Guinea Dish—One Way of Cooking an Olive.

Whatever criticism the forms and expense of modern entertainment may still invite, we have at least escaped from the objectionable feature of costliness for its own sake which characterized so many of the banquets of a century ago. As we all very well know, there is cookery and cookery, and the best must need be expensive. But there is an obvious distinction between the "regardless of expense" principle and the mere desire to stand sponsor to the costliest dish or dinner, as such, that money can pay for and the perverted ingenuity of cooks can achieve. The first may be the legitimate ambition of a Croesus intent upon social advancement, but the second is a more vulgar aim and one, indeed, that often defaces its own ends.

According to Thackeray's philosophy, "a man can only be hungry and eat and be happy," but there is clearly a great deal more in it than that. Between such a primitive canon of gastronomy and the well founded tastes and preferences of the genuine connoisseur there is a distinction as broad as it is reasonable. Good, better, best, apply as fully and inevitably to matters of the table as to any other department of life, and it must always be difficult for those who have graduated in the higher schools of the culinary art not to accept the very cordial maxim, "The best of everything is good enough for the likes of us."

When the Count of Monte-Cristo showed his guests how easy it was to spend a thousand pounds on a dinner for ten persons he gave them also an insight into the rationale of the expenditure. Among the dishes was a sterlet brought alive from the Volga, and the count then replies to the comments it provoked: "I am like Nero—I wish for the impossible. This fish, which seems so excellent to you, is very likely no better than carp or salmon, but it seemed impossible to procure it, and here it is." There is not even originality in this, for it is only an adaptation of the old Roman idea, and the cost of Monte-Cristo's dinner has often been exceeded by that of a single dish.

History is silent as to the sum expended upon the enormous entree called by Vitellius the "shield of Minerva," but as it was composed of an incredible variety of the rarest and nicest kinds of meat its cost was certainly in proportion to its size. Nor could a dish of nightingales' tongues have been made for a trifle, though it could have been worth very little when it was made. The vast sum lavished upon the feasts of the luxurious Romans must be accepted with some hesitation, and the £4,000 said to have been expended by Vitellius upon his supper seems almost fabious.

But then he, too, was devoured by a desire to attain the "impossible" and employed a far reaching organization in order to realize it. According to Josephus, his food was of the most rare and exquisite nature, "the deserts of Libya, the shores of Spain, the waters of the Carpathian sea, and even the coasts and forests of Britain were diligently searched for dainties to supply his table." But even this is eclipsed by the story of a single dish provided for a banquet given by Helogabalus which is said to have cost no less a sum than £4,000 of English money.

The waste and utter futility of such lavish expenditure may be said, in some sense, to have been counterbalanced by the idea of splendor and luxurious opulence which it was thought to express. But we find records of dishes of quite inordinate cost much nearer our own times for which no such plea can be urged.

In his "City Madam" Massinger scours the extravagant method of preparing many dishes then in fashion and ridicules "their pies of carps' tongues and their phantasies drenched with ambergris." And he is especially severe—perhaps such an incident had actually occurred—upon "the carcasses of three fat wethers bruised for gravy to make sauce for a single turkey." This, of course, is a simple barbarism for which there can be no possible palliation. And though it may be regarded as an exceptional instance of princely magnificence, one instinctively shrinks at the statement that at the banquet given by Louis XIV. at Versailles on the occasion of the marriage of Mlle. de Blois and the Prince de Conti in 1663 the ortolans alone cost 16,000 francs.

Napoleon himself is reported to have said that "more fortunate treatises, more happy arrangements and reconciliations were due to the cook of his Chancellor Cambaceres than to the crowds of diplomatic nonentities who thronged the antechambers of the Tuilleries." That cook could scarcely complain of his "raw material," for on a certain occasion a large trout arrived from Geneva, consigned to the chancellor's kitchen, the cost of which was verified by the Court des Comptes as amounting to 6,000 francs.

But as an instance of cost for cost's sake no better example can be given than that of Soyer's famous "hundred guinea dish," so much talked of in the middle of the last century. This, of course, was a "made dish," which required as a mere preliminary the sum of £34, the cost of five turtles' heads, with a part of the fine and green fat. The next requirement was over 400 birds of every kind known to the poultry yard and game list, with a few not included in either, the small "noix" from each side of the middle of the back of each bird alone being used.

This, no doubt, is a superlatively dainty morsel, but it is almost impossible to repress a feeling of indignation at finding that a hundred snipe were sacrificed for it. The cost of the "garbiture" is set down at £14 10s. and this consisted of coquoms, truffles, mushrooms, crayfish, olives, asparagus, sweetbreads, green mangos and some other ingredients. The one relief felt is reading the account of this dish is that such a vulgar and ridiculous meal is no longer possible.

Almost as foolish, although of a different character, is the recipe extolled by Brillat-Savarin, which teaches us how to misapply the flesh of two wood-cocks, with truffles and other condiments, as the mere stuffing for a single pheasant. We are assured that "the success of this method is guaranteed by the very nature of things," but the idea seems radically false to begin with, and no amount of skill can cure the inherent defect.

It is some years since a well known connoisseur condemned the use of lobster sauce with salmon on the reasonable ground that no fish should be made to serve as the complement of another. And it is surely an offense of still greater magnitude to attempt to incorporate the individual subtleties of two such delicious birds as the woodcock and pheasant in a single dish.

The cost of cooking a single olive may turn out a costly proceeding, especially if a bon vivant should adopt the following method: Place a French olive inside a beccafico (the fig pecker), the beccafico in a golden plover, the plover in a pheasant and the pheasant in a bustard. The cooking is to proceed with special regard to the "basting," and when the dish is presented the master of the feast sends the olive (only) to the guest whom he desires to honor, unless, indeed, he happens to sup alone—Lucullus with Lucullus—when he eats it himself. There is some reason to believe, however, that this recipe was designed as a sarcastic rebuke to the extravagant cooks of the period and not less to the wealthy gourmet of overcultivated tastes.—London Globe.

Then, like lightning, a wonderful thing happened. The young man's chin sank deep into the hollow of the other's shoulder; his arms went up about the muscles of the bulky back; little legs like wire went suddenly curling and twisting about the stocky ones. A moment of strained silence and a glaze of shocked surprise on the mate's flushed face, then—

Crack! The coil untwisted; the mate relaxed, tottered and fell to the deck. There was at this time in France a curious science known as "La Savate."

A glaze of shocked surprise on the mate's flushed face.

The Japanese have it under another name. It was first taught in the thieving dens of Paris and was to some extent popularized by a clever rogue who earned freedom from the Bastille by teaching it to young officers of the title. It was an art of leg fence, and by precisely the same twist and wring which a practiced swordsman uses to disarm an adversary, the blade in this case being bone and flesh. Armand had sent the mate's knee leaping from its socket.

To the majority of those who saw it, this was perfectly incomprehensible. A gasp of wonder ran among the redemptors, and they laughed loudly at the mate's groan. The secretary had lost none of his alertness, though he was breathing hard. He sprang at the stanchion, clearly intending to return to the upper deck by the way he had come.

But he was too late. The mate's sailors rushed upon him.

Cary, shaking with excitement, sent out a cry.

"By Harry!" he shouted to the passengers about him. "Shall we see him that fought so beat like a dog? Are we peltroons, ah?"

He leaped the rail, but before he could reach the lower level aid came to Armand, so hard beset. The skipper dived into the circle on a run, an evil light in his eyes and a marline spike in his hand. He knocked the foremost senseless, and the rest scattered.

"Curse ye!" he bellowed. "Set on a passenger, ye dogish! By the devil, I'll mizzed ye naked! Get to work and take this away!" he commanded, jerking a thumb at the mate who sat up, nursing his knee.

The woman, still holding the bundle, had pressed to the secretary's side and was pouring out a torrent of grateful incoherencies. Master Elves began cursing her with vigor, but Armand touched his arm.

"The babe is dead," he said. "Your mate would have cast it overboard. I ask for the mother a twelve hours' time. If we do not sight land by then I will ask no more."

But land was not to be seen that day. Next morning came—the secretary's fit had been in vain. Then there was another gathering to the forward rail of the upper deck.

This was to watch the young Frenchmen sitting among the redemptors, sewing a round shot carefully into the foot of a white silk bundle the size of a babe. The mother, now with empty arms, trailed her long hair and sat, red eyed, sodden with weeping, beside him. This done, he stitched over the silk neckerchief a clean canvas and fast all sewed to its top a tiny gold cross which he took from his pocket. The bundle, held now by willing hands, was laid on a little board whose end projected over the rail, and then Armand, with bared head, took his stand beside it, and then heard his voice repeating part of the Huguenot service for the dead.

Few understood the words, for they were French, but all grasped their meaning. The fresh cheeks of the girls were wet with tears. The tollers' sombre faces were pitiful. Even the crime smirched ones were softer. And the mother was satisfied. Had not her child been blessed? To her none but a priest could perform such a rite, and Armand, though wearing no cassock, was yet in some mysterious way a priest.

So are we all His ministers!

BUTTON FACTORY ON THE OHIO RIVER

New Industry Develops From Mussel Shell Hunting.

Cloverport Capitalists Expect To Manufacture Buttons In Large Quantities.

ARE ORGANIZING A COMPANY

The mussel shell industry in the Ohio river will result in a big button factory.

Heretofore the shells gathered below here and in other parts of the Ohio and Wabash rivers have been shipped to the upper Mississippi via Cairo and St. Louis, entailing heavy expense.

Capitalists of Cloverport are now arranging to add a button factory to the mussel shell industry that during the past two years has developed among the towns on both the Indiana and the Kentucky side of the Ohio river. A joint stock company is being organized to establish a plant to be known as the Clove port Pearl Button Factory. The capital stock of the concern is $6,000 and the promoters are: Marian Weatherholt, R. T. Oelze, Dr. A. A. Simons and H. A. Oelze. A factory building is to be erected and the plant will have a daily capacity of 200 gross of buttons. The buttons are to be made of mussel shells which are dragged from the bottom of the Ohio river.

In advance of these and in the rear of the crowd, with Betsy Byrd in the saddle beside it, stood the Tillotson coach, framing in its window a face with a flicker of laughter over it like the wind on a May meadow. Anne was in close green and with her oak yellow hair looked a gold spear rising straight from its sheath. As early as noon one of the Tillotson blacks had ridden to Gladden Hall with the news that the ship had been sighted down the bay, and Anne had ordered the chariot forthwith. Betsy had a new peacock shawl coming in Master Elves' care and had made the pilgrimage from Williamsburg every day for a week.

"What a pity!" exclaimed Anne, who had been first to arrive. "Mr. Cary-Breckinridge Cary—came on the ship, but she lay in Hampton Roads last night, and he there found a packet for Philadelphia. So we shall not see him till the spring."

"I'm sorry," Betsy answered. "Frank saw him in London. What a lot there are here! There is Burnaby Ralph of Westham, here for more redemptions than doubt. He bought a round dozen last ship. Why doesn't he leave that for his factor, like a gentleman, I wonder?"

Anne looked at the man she indicated—of medium height, with a sheep face, long in the tooth—and turned away with a little shudder. He stood with thick legs planted firmly, talking with a neighbor, his head turned over his shoulder, and as they looked he raised his sword hilt and struck savagely at a black who jostled him. "Poor servants who fall into Mr. Ralph's hands. I pity them," she said in a low voice.

"John the Baptist," she called to her mounted servant, "did you go down to inquire about Miss Betsy's chest, as I told you?"

"Yas'm, yas'm. Done been down dar twice!"

"Are you sure?"
"Yas'm, on each bonah!"

"Hon'or!" Anne said severely. "What do you know about honor, John the Baptist?"

The darky responded with a ragged grin. "I nester hab er heep or honah," he said vaguely, "but I got so 'stray' want wid it I spec I ain't got much lef' now."

"Look yonder, Anne," whispered Betsy. "Isn't that a genteel looking young man? What a lovely brown his hair is! He's looking this way. His coat has a foreign cut. I warrant he came on the ship. There is Master Brooke standing by him now."

Anne's eyes showed her a gray coat unashed, plain hose and shoes with a heat steel buckle—a dress neither rich nor poor. There was no lace upon the hat, no paste knee buckles, and consequently are unable to sign. As a result, a number of the pilots live in constant dread of running down one of the little craft. They go up and down the river, and move in and out among the other vessels going to and fro, causing much annoyance to the pilots on the larger craft. Not being compelled by law to carry whistles, these little boats would not be held responsible for a collision with a larger boat. The responsibility rests almost entirely with the larger boats, and that is why the pilots are annoyed.

NEWS OF THE RIVERS.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat says: "Pilots of the ferries and other river craft here are facing a peculiar and annoying condition brought about by the rapid increase in the number of small gasoline, stern-wheel boats, which are now infesting these waters. These little boats carry no whistles, and consequently are unable to sign. As a result, a number of the pilots live in constant dread of running down one of the little craft. They go up and down the river, and move in and out among the other vessels going to and fro, causing much annoyance to the pilots on the larger craft. Not being compelled by law to carry whistles, these little boats would not be held responsible for a collision with a larger boat. The responsibility rests almost entirely with the larger boats, and that is why the pilots are annoyed."

Pilot Cade Stewart, formerly on the St. Louis and Tennessee River boats, is now on the Bald Eagle, running out of St. Louis.

Gauge today 2.6, fall of one tenth. Clear and warmer.

The Clyde arrived from Tennessee river last night and is unloading at Brookport.

The Charleston is getting ready to go out this evening at 6 o'clock and is getting a good trip for Tennessee river.

Nothing has yet been heard from the new owners of the Chattanooga.

It is supposed he is organizing a company to operate the boat.

The Henry Harley left at 8 a.m. today for Cairo.

The Bob Dudley is not due from Evansville until about Wednesday night or Thursday.

A great deal of work is still being done on the marine ways and docks, and a boating stage will find most of the boats newly repaired.

COAL PICKERS

Must Remain Out of the Railroad Yards.

Illinois Central Decides to Allow No More of It.

The Illinois Central road has decided that the habit of "coal picking" must cease, and local special agents have been directed to keep a close watch on negroes and those in the habit of frequenting the railroad yards and picking up coal, and stop them from carrying away the coal.

A local special agent explained the reasons this morning as he superintended the loading of nearly fifty bushels of coal which had been picked up during the summer and stored away by a negro for the winter, into a coal car. "You see the little coal which is picked up by the negroes does not cut so much ice, but there is danger of their being run over by a train or engine while going about the yards picking up coal, and again, they will get into cars and steal the coal. We have prosecuted several cases where negroes have stolen coal out of the cars and the coal I am moving now was taken from the yards and coal cars. We decided to collect all the coal taken this way and have the confessions of several persons of this kind of theft this week already and I have collected nearly 100 bushels of coal."

The officer stated that the road would tolerate "coal picking" no longer and that the "coal pickers" would be kept out of the yards entirely.

NEW DETECTIVE

MR. JAMES FLOURNOY APPOINTED TO SUCCEED TOM MURRAY.

Factories have been established at Madison, Leavenworth and other towns along the river for the manufacture of buttons, handles for knives and various other articles, and the shells have been snipped in great quantities to factories in the north, west and east. The supply of shells it is said is inexhaustible.

During the present low water season the mussel shell gatherers are reaping a harvest. The mussels are caught much easier when the water is low.

Cured of Backache.

Member of the Business Men's League and one of the best known business men in St. Louis, Mo. Read what Mr. Wand has to say about Dr. Fenner's Kidney and Backache Cure:

"I know what it is to be afflicted with backache and I sympathize with fellow sufferers. After swallowing various and frequent nauseating doses of this and that prescription I decided that if Dr. Fenner's Kidney and Backache Cure could not rid me of those backaches it at least would not do me any harm and I procured a bottle.

"Now the first bottle didn't stop those wearing backaches but it did afford great relief. The second bottle, however, did effectively put a stop to those recurring backaches. Occasionally they returned when strenuous business affairs exhausted the physical forces, but a dose or two of Dr. Fenner's Cure gave instant relief.

Respectfully,
